2:30 – 3:45  Tuesday/Thursday  Course Number 31056
SPEA – PV 163

Prof. Jayma Meyer

Course Description:

This course examines many of the legal, ethical and public policy disputes in the amateur sports arena with an emphasis on college sports. The class will analyze regulatory rules, court cases, legislation and current issues involving “pay for play”/ antitrust, NCAA rules regarding scholarships, eligibility, and drug infractions, sexual assault, Title IX gender equality and health and safety liability relating to concussions. The class will approach the study through problem and case studies with a focus on team collaboration to develop solutions.

Professor Meyer, after graduating from SPEA and Georgetown Law Center, practiced antitrust law for over 35 years at a top 10 law firm in NYC and more recently focused on Title IX gender equality litigation and other issues in the sports arena. She has taught law school classes and served on non-profit boards involved with women’s rights. And, she was a world ranked competitive swimmer who learned to swim in Bloomington.
