Part II: Administrative and Development

- Directed the IU Art Museum since 1986
- Established the IU Art Museum's National Advisory Board in 1989 (now core support and advisory group)
- Led the first and second Art Museum's Capital Campaign with the goal of securing support for current level of operations, care of collections and support of activities. The Art Museum's endowment went from zero in 1986 to:

- All current Curatorships (5) endowed
- Named fund developing to endow Director's chair
- Conservation (painting) endowed
- Endowed conservation fund (major)
- Endowed conservation scholarship fund
- Endowed Director's scholarship fund (for 60th birthday)
- Named 20th century gallery (endowed fund – estate plan)
- Named Raymond and Laura Wielgus Gallery (endowed funds, collection commitment- outright and estate plan)
- Endowed unrestricted funds (multiple sources)
- Endowed acquisition funds (multiple sources)
- Endowed Education fund (estate plan)
- Arc Fund and Director's Circle offers growing annual unrestricted funding
- Numerous additional grants to IU Art Museum during my tenure, for special projects including improved storage, conservation assessments, exhibitions and publications from IMLS; NEH, NEA, and other sources.
- Corporate sponsorships from area corporations
- Named Hexagon Gallery for Milt and Judi Stewart
- Major gift from Anthony J. Moravec of 24 Old Master drawings including 12 Domenico Tiepolo drawings establishing IUAM as third largest repository of New Testament drawings in the world after Louvre and Morgan Library
- Mellon Grant for Mellon Senior Academic Officer

Total raised from zero at start of directorship: current totals available on request. Exceeded goal of 2nd campaign (having met original 10 million target, partly through in-kind donations of collections)

- Integrated what was an isolated museum into the academic and research mission of Indiana University.
- Developed relationships with key collectors to amplify collections at IU through donations: Ray and Laura Wielgus; Ulrich and Gloria Middeldorf; Morton Bradley; Thomas T. Solley
- Supported numerous advanced research projects by museum staff that have yielded important publications and exhibitions that reached national audiences. (eg. Ancient Jewelry, toured US and Europe; Art Sinsabaugh, opened Art Institute of Chicago, 2005, now on 2nd national tour)
- Supported retrospective exhibitions of key faculty: Karl Martz; Alma Eikerman, Mavin Lowe; Rudy Pozzatti
- Working with committee to conserve the Calder Stabile, IU Musical Arts Center (2006 on)
- Led initiative to raise the funds for the multi-year conservation project to rescue the Thomas Hart Benton Murals of the History of Indiana that were commissioned for the 1933 Chicago World's Fair and are now in the IU Auditorium- a landmark project supported by the NEA and the Getty. (1998-2000)
- Supported Branding initiative to better communicate with community audiences.
- Supported a model Education program that serves 60 of the 90 counties in Indiana
- Consistently supported research and teaching activities of curatorial staff; encouraged and promoted engagement with University community and students
- Added senior staff (curator of Asian art) through endowments; have developed professional senior administrative staff including development, curatorial and administrative.
- Achieved creation of Curator for Campus Art- a key position for caring for campus collections
- Worked with Chancellor Fulton, Richmond Campus, to establish Richmond Campus Gallery

- Working to create Campus endowment for care of collections.
- Currently setting goals and strategies through 2011 which includes building and gallery renovations; establishing 25 year plan.
