

The population has genetic diversity affecting leaf shape

The population has genetic diversity affecting leaf shape

In a dry environment, the narrow-leaved plants grow better (less water loss)

