

CENTER ON EDUCATION AND LIFELONG LEARNING

Date: February 20, 2015
Time: 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Location:

Columbus, IN

(The actual location of the conference will be given upon registration)

Cost: $150

Morning refreshments and lunch are provided

Space is Limited!!! There will be NO onsite registration

To Register:

<https://indianauniv.ungerboeck.com/prod/emc00/register.aspx?OrgCode=10&EvtID=6715&AppCode=REG>

IIDC-CELL

1905 North Range
Bloomington, IN 47408

Contact Deborah Reichmann
Phone: 812-855-6508
E-mail: dreichma@indiana.edu.

Introduction to Restorative Practices

Benefits

- A stronger community
- Positive relationships
- Improved workplace or organizational climate
- Tools for classroom management and enhancing learning
- Alternatives to suspension/expulsion

Focus

- Underlying concepts of restorative practices
- Effective strategies for:
 - managing behavior
 - teaching people to take responsibility for their actions
 - engaging people in their own issues
- Interactive experiences to enhance your understanding

With this event, you will:

- Gain practical knowledge and skills you can use immediately.
- Strengthen your ability to help others handle their own issues and achieve their own goals.
- Interact with other knowledgeable professionals to find realistic solutions to the issues you face every day.
- Receive helpful take-along handouts plus, the instructional book: The Restorative Practices Handbook.