

Guest Lecture
The Russian Orthodox Church Today

Dr. Paul Valliere
Thursday February 19
5:00 p.m.
Wylie Hall 015

Paul Valliere, Professor of Religion and McGregor Professor of the Humanities at Butler University, is a distinguished specialist on Russian Orthodoxy. Professor Valliere will speak about the recent past and future of the Russian Orthodox Church, addressing major developments since 1988, the recent election of a new patriarch, and outlooks for the new century.

This event is cosponsored by the Russian and East European Institute, the Department of Religious Studies, the Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures and the Orthodox Christian Fellowship at Indiana University.
