Indiana University

Code of Student Rights, Responsibilities, and Conduct

[proposed updates spring 2009]

Preamble

The purposes of Indiana University include the advancement of knowledge, the pursuit of truth, the development of students, and the promotion of the general well-being of society. As a community, we share a dedication to maintaining an environment that supports trust, respect, honesty, civility, free inquiry, creativity, and an open exchange of ideas.

Individual rights are best protected by a collective commitment to mutual respect. A student who accepts admission to Indiana University agrees to:

- be ethical in his or her participation in the academic community,
- take responsibility for what he or she says and does,
- behave in a manner that is respectful of the dignity of others, treating others with civility and understanding,
- use university resources and facilities in appropriate ways consistent with their purpose and in accordance with applicable policies.

Every Indiana University student is responsible for reading and understanding this Statement, as well as other expectations identified by individual schools or organizations relevant to an academic major, professional field, or on-campus residence. This Code of Student Rights, Responsibilities, and Conduct is intended to identify the basic rights, responsibilities, and expectations of all students and student groups to serve as a guide for the overall student experience at Indiana University.

23 Part I: Student Rights

25 Indiana University recognizes its responsibility to support and uphold the basic freedoms and citizenship rights of 26 all students. Within that context, students have the following rights.

27

28 A. Rights in the Pursuit of Education

29 The classrooms, laboratories, libraries, and studios are the essential learning environments of the university, and 30 the freedom to learn in these environments should be promoted and encouraged by instructors. The following 31 statements have been developed in support of a student's right in the classroom or other learning environment.
32 Students shall have the right to:

- 33 • Have access to faculty, academic technology, classrooms, libraries, presentations, and other resources 34 necessary for the learning process.
- 35 • Have access to academic advising and clear expectations for degree and graduation requirements.
- 36 • Have decisions related to the pursuit of their education made in a clear manner.
- 37 • Learn in an environment that supports the freedom of self-expression and association.
- 38 • Participate in an exchange of ideas, pursuant with his or her constitutional rights and the Preamble of this 39 Code, free of conduct that impedes either an instructor's ability to teach or the student's ability to learn.
40 (See Guidelines for Dealing with Disruptive
- 41 • Students in Academic Settings, University Faculty Council, April 12, 2005)
- 42 • Receive either a paper or an electronic class syllabus in a timely manner.
- 43 • Expect to interact with faculty who act professionally; provide clearly stated class goals; provide clear
44 expectations for class performance and evaluation; meet classes as scheduled; are accessible for office 45 hours, appointments or consultation; and maintain a clear connection between course content and the 46 most recently approved course description.
- 47 • Expect a faculty member will be sensitive to the student's religious beliefs and observances, including an 48 expectation that instructors will make reasonable arrangements upon notice that the student must miss 49 an exam or other academic exercise resulting from the observance of a religious holiday. (See Policy on 50 Accommodations for Religious Observances, University Faculty Council, March 28, 2000)
- 51 • Have the freedom to raise relevant issues pertaining to classroom discussion (including personal and 52 political beliefs), offer reasonable doubts about data presented, and express alternative opinions without 53 concern for any academic penalty.
- 54 • Students have the right to expect that their work will be evaluated by academic standards alone.
- 55 • Study, work, and interact in an environment of professionalism and of mutual trust and respect that is 56 free of amorous or sexual advances by a faculty member. All amorous or sexual relationships between 57 faculty members and students are unacceptable when the faculty member has any professional 58 responsibility for the student, even when both parties have consented or appear to have consented to the 59 relationship. Such professional responsibility encompasses both instructional and noninstructional
60 contexts. A faculty member shall not have an amorous or sexual relationship, consensual or otherwise, 61 with a student who is enrolled in a course being taught by the faculty member or whose performance is 62 being supervised or evaluated by the faculty member. A faculty member should be careful to distance 63 himself or herself from any decisions that may reward or penalize a student with whom he or she has or 64 has had an amorous or sexual relationship, even outside the instructional context, especially when the 65 faculty member and student are in the same academic unit or in units that are allied academically. (From 66 the University Code of Academic Ethics, Part A.1, Relations with students). See definition of "faculty 67 member" in Part IV of the Code.

68

69 B. Right to Freedom from Discrimination

70 Students have the right to study, work, and interact in an environment that is free from discrimination in violation
 71 of law or university policy by any member of the university community. Students at Indiana University are 72 expected to respect the rights and dignity of other students, faculty, and staff.

73
 74 The university will not exclude any person from participation in its programs or activities
 75 on the basis of arbitrary considerations of such characteristics as age, color, disability, ethnicity, sex, ~~or~~ 76 gender, gender identity, marital status, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran 77 status.

78
 79 A student has the right to be free from such discrimination by other students that has the effect of interfering with 80 the student's ability to participate in programs or activities of the university.

81
 82 Students wishing more information regarding these statements should consult the following Board of Trustees
 83 documents: Resolution on the Elimination of Discrimination (July 3, 1967, November 21, 1969), Student Affirmative
 84 Action Policy Statement (June 29, 1974), Statement concerning Disabled Veterans, Veterans of the Vietnam Era,
 85 and Handicapped Individuals (March 3, 1979), and Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Policy of Indiana
 86 University (December 4, 1992).

87
 88 Indiana University administrators are responsible for publicizing and implementing the university's affirmative
 89 action policy in their respective areas of jurisdiction. Students who believe that they are victims of discrimination 90 may obtain information concerning the university's affirmative action policy and complaint procedures from the 91 campus affirmative action officer or the Dean of Students office.

92
 93 C. Right to Freedom from Harassment

94 A student has the right to be free from sexual or discriminatory harassment a) in any building or at any location on 95 any university property, or b) that occurs in a building or on property that is not university property if the 96 harassment arises from university activities that are being conducted off the university campus or if the 97 harassment compromises the security of the university community or the integrity of the educational process.

98
 99 Sexual harassment is defined as unwelcome sexual advances, including requests for sexual favors and other
 100 unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature, when submission to such conduct is made, either explicitly or implicitly, a
 101 term or condition of a student's education, or submission to or rejection of such conduct by a student is used as 102 the basis for academic conditions affecting the student; or the conduct has the effect of unreasonably interfering 103 with an individual's academic performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive learning environment.

104
 105 Discriminatory harassment is defined as conduct that targets an individual based upon age, color, religion, 106 disability, race, ethnicity, national origin, sex, ~~or~~ gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, marital 107 status, or veteran's status and that adversely affects a term or condition of an individual's education, housing, or 108 participation in a university activity; or has the purpose or effect of unreasonably creating an intimidating, hostile,
 109 or offensive environment for academic pursuits, housing, or participation in university activities.

110
 111 The Indiana University Policy against Sexual Harassment, as adopted by the Board of Trustees June 15, 1998,
 112 provides procedures for handling complaints concerning sexual harassment. Violations of discriminatory
 113 harassment policy are handled under existing procedures for handling complaints of discrimination.

114
 115 Indiana University administrators are responsible for publicizing and implementing the university's affirmative
 116 action and harassment policies in their respective areas of jurisdiction. Students who believe that they are victims 117 of discriminatory harassment may obtain information concerning the university's affirmative action policy and 118 complaint procedures from the campus affirmative action officer or the Dean of Students office.

119

120 D. Right to Access Records and Facilities

121 Students can expect to have access to policies and procedures that affect them and access to university offices that 122 may be able to assist them, such as the Office of Affirmative Action or the Dean of Students office.

123

124 Students can expect that their academic records will be maintained and they will have access to their records in a
 125 manner consistent with the Indiana University policies and applicable state and federal laws.

126

127 Students can expect to have reasonable access to university facilities and resources.

128

129 E. Right to Freedom of Association, Expression, Advocacy, and 130 Publication

131 Students are free to form, join, and participate in groups or organizations that promote student interests, including 132 but not limited to groups or organizations that are organized for intellectual, religious, social, economic, political,
 133 recreational, or cultural purposes.

135 In accordance with the state and federal Constitution and university policy, the university recognizes the rights of 136 all students to engage in discussion, to express thoughts and opinions, and to assemble, speak, write, publish or 137 invite speakers on any subject without university interference or fear of university disciplinary action.

138

139 Students may engage in peaceful and orderly protests, demonstrations, and picketing that do not disrupt functions
 140 of the university, subject to appropriate regulation concerning time, place, and manner. If a student feels that this 141 right has been violated, the student may file a request with the dean of students for an investigation and 142 appropriate action.

143

144 Students who publish student publications under university auspices have the right to be free of university
 145 censorship. Student editors and managers may be suspended or removed from their positions only for proper 146 cause and by appropriate proceedings conducted by the agency responsible for the appointment of such editors
 147 and managers.

148

149 Indiana University does not require a student group or organization to register and be approved by the university.
 150 Student groups and organizations must comply with all federal, state and local laws, as well as university policies.

 168 reasonable accommodations, upon request by the student or the university, for such disabilities. It is the 169 responsibility of students with documented physical or learning disabilities seeking accommodation to notify their 170 course directors and the relevant campus office that deals with such cases in a timely manner concerning the need 171 for such accommodation. Indiana University will make reasonable accommodations for access to programs,

 185 by a member of the university community have the right to file a complaint, as outlined in 186 Part III.

188 A student making a complaint under the provisions of this Code should expect that the university will make a good
 189 faith attempt to determine the validity of the complaint. An alleged offender, complainant or victim is not entitled 190 to be present while the individuals who are responsible for determining the merits of the complaint are 191 deliberating the merits of the complaint.

200

1. A student charged with violating this Code has the right to a fair and reasonable process for handling the 201 charges.

202

2. The student has the right to be informed of the procedures that will be used in adjudicating the charges 203 against him/her, including but not limited to notice of the charges, deadlines associated with stages of the 215 by the applicable personnel policies of Indiana University.

216

217 Students should contact their immediate supervisor, the Office of Student Employment, the Dean of Faculties, or 218 University Human Resources for information. All personnel policies, including the policies for student hourly
219 employees, are also available on the Indiana University Web site.

 249 doctoral qualifying exams and dissertations), and research work outside of a specific course structure (such as 250 lab experiments, data collection, service learning, and collaborative research projects). The faculty member 251 may take into account the seriousness of the violation in assessing a penalty for acts of academic misconduct.
 252 The faculty member must report all cases of academic misconduct to the dean of students, or appropriate
 253 official. Academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, the following:

254

 437 regulations occur. Individual students who plan, sponsor, or direct such functions also may be subject 438 to discipline.

455 I. Personal Misconduct Not on University Property.

456 The university may discipline a student for acts of personal misconduct or criminal acts that are not committed on 457 university property if the acts arise from university activities that are being conducted off the university campus,
458 or if the misconduct undermines the security of the university community or the integrity of the educational 459 process or poses a serious threat to self or others.

- 460 1. Indiana University is committed to the promotion of a civil community both on campus and off 461 campus.
- 462 2. Indiana University regards off-campus activity, including but not limited to university-sponsored 463 events, as an integral part of a student's academic, personal, and professional growth. Thus, the 464 university recognizes the right of all students to expect that the university will subject individuals to 465 the same responsibilities and disciplinary procedures when conduct:
- 466 a. Adversely impacts the university's mission, or the tenets of this Code, such as altering academic 467 transcripts, harassment of any kind, trafficking in term papers, use of a computer or other 468 electronic device to obtain unauthorized access to information;
- 469 b. Presents a clear danger to the personal safety of any person or the protection of any person's 470 property, such as alcohol and drug offenses, arson, battery, fraud, hazing, participation in group

- 472 c. Violates policies of an academic program and related facilities, including but not limited to an off-

481 Part III: Procedures for Implementation of the Code

482 This Code governs activities on all campuses of Indiana University. Specific procedures are to be developed by each 483 campus and made available to students, faculty, and staff on the campus.

484 These procedures will provide for:

485 Student Grievances—Students are to have clear procedures to follow when they believe that any of their rights, as 486 defined in earlier sections of this Code, have been violated by a member of the university community. The local 487 campus offices of the dean of students, affirmative action, and faculty affairs, as appropriate, will assist students in 488 addressing their complaints.

489 Academic and Personal Misconduct—Clear procedures with specific information about the persons who are 490 involved, timelines, and disciplinary sanctions are to be created and maintained at the campus level. These 491 procedures are to be designed to provide students with procedural fairness and to ensure equal protection for all 492 students and appropriate sanctions.

493 Advisors—A person charged, a victim or anyone providing testimony is entitled, at his or her expense, to be 494 accompanied by an advisor or support person of his or her choice. An advisor or support person is limited to the 495 role of advising. The advisor or support person may not participate in the proceeding, may not question witnesses,
496 and may not make any statements during the proceeding. ~~Campuses may, however, create procedures to allow a
497 student to have an advisor or support person to speak on the student's behalf at the final appeal hearing.~~

498 Campuses may, however, create procedures to allow a student to have an advisor
499 or support person to speak on the student's behalf at the formal or final appeal 500 hearing.

501 A student with a disability affecting communication or a student who cannot effectively communicate in the 502 English language may seek a reasonable accommodation from the office of the dean of students to allow an 503 advisor or interpreter to present or translate the proceedings.

504 Notification of a Victim—A person who is a victim of any specific misconduct for which disciplinary proceedings are 505 conducted under this Code is entitled to participate in proceedings relating to evidence, but not the deliberative
506 process in which the hearing officer or panel weigh the evidence presented and arrive at a decision. If the subject 507 matter of the disciplinary proceeding involves crimes of violence or a sex offense and the accused is determined to 508 have committed the act, the dean of students is required to notify the victim of the outcome of disciplinary 509 proceedings in a timely manner.

510 Campus procedures are to be reviewed and approved periodically through the local campus faculty council. Any 511 revision should also be reviewed by University Counsel. It is recommended that campus procedures remain fairly 512 similar across all campuses in an effort to assist students transferring among IU campuses.

513

558 previously adopted by the Board of Trustees and effective on August 15, 1997, and the Code of 574 3. Amendments to the Code by Academic Units.

- 575 a. The Code of Student Ethics was adopted by the University Faculty Council on April 16, 576 1990, by the following resolution:

577 "The Code of Student Ethics shall apply to all students at Indiana University. Any unit of the 578 university may adopt additional or alternative substantive or procedural standards to this code, 579 provided the alternative or additional standards:

- 580 1. Are necessary to meet academic concerns or to comply with the professional 581 or accreditation standards; and
- 582 2. Guarantee students in the unit a fair opportunity to be heard consistent with 583 the standards of evidence and due process found in this code."

- 584 b. In establishing additional or alternative processes, a unit must use the following procedure:

- 585 (1) Proposed revisions to the Code must be submitted to the Agenda Committee of the 586 appropriate faculty council (Campus or University) for review, and to the full faculty council
 587 for approval, to ensure the revisions are comprehensive and consistent, and that they meet 588 the criteria outlined above.
- 589 (2) Upon approval by a campus faculty council, the revisions must be reported to the campus
 590 Dean of Students and the University Faculty Council Agenda Committee. The University
 591 Faculty Council will review and consider final approval of the revisions.
- 592 (3) Upon final approval of an alternative process, the fact that this code does not apply to the 593 unit, with regard to academic matters, must be publicized in a fashion calculated to inform 594 all students taking courses in the unit, that they will be judged by the alternative process.
 595 The notice must also explain where copies of the alternate process are available.
- 596 (4) Upon a student being found responsible for violation of a provision set forth in an 597 alternative process, the Dean of Students must be informed in writing of the student's 598 name and identification number, a description of the offense, the date and location of the 599 offense, and a description of any sanction or action taken by the university official, or 600 hearing commission, who considered the reported violation.
