PAGE REFERENCES should be given in parentheses in the body of the text. Please use only ENDNOTES (no footnotes). The endnotes should contain no bibliographical information. All bibliographical information should be included in the "WORKS CITED" list.

In CITING the complete reference in the "Works Cited" section, please use the standard format for bibliographies, according to the MLA Handbook. Please be sure to include the following information: author, full title, series (if applicable), translators/editors, place of publication, and name of the publisher, year of publication, page numbers for journal articles, pieces in anthologies, and book chapters. For titles, please use italics instead of underlining.

In CITING ELECTRONIC PUBLICATIONS, please follow the MLA Handbook guidelines. Include the title of the site (in italics), the date of electronic publication or the latest update, and the name of any institution or organization that sponsors the site. If an editor's name or a version number is stated, give that information directly following the title of the site. The date of electronic publication is required in addition to a date of print publication, when available. Include a date of access, and the URL.
